Often referred to as the 'Manchester of India' due to its established textile industry, the city of Ludhiana is home to attractive tourist sites that evoke a sense of history and culture. Following are some of the popular spots tourists may visit from the hotel:

Local Sightseeing:

Maharaja Ranjit Singh War Museum:

Established in the year 1999, the Maharaja Ranjit Singh War Museum pays homage to the courageous soldiers who fought during wars and laid down their lives for the nation. Exhibiting a total of 12 galleries, the museum is also known to conduct a light and sound show that narrates the War of Independence and the role of the brave soldiers from Punjab in it.

Nehru Rose Garden:

The famous was established in 1967 and is known to be one of the largest rose gardens in Asia. Spread over 30 acres of land, the Nehru Rose Garden houses 17,000 plants with a variety of 1,600 different roses. Its pleasing greenery makes it the most sought-after picnic spot, complemented by musical fountains, lawns, boat rides, and a mini zoo. The city's annual rose festival attracts thousands of visitors to the garden every year.

Museum of Rural History of Punjab:

Situated on the campus of the Punjab Agricultural University, the Museum of Rural History of Punjab portrays the rural lifestyle of the region, with a dedicated exhibit of its rich culture and heritage. Adorned with beautiful water channels and gardens on the sides, the interior area is divided into several sections that showcase ancient artefacts, household, weaving, and spinning equipment as well as musical instruments like Dholak, Sitar, Sarangi, and more. One can also find traditional Punjabi handicrafts here.

Phillaur Fort:

Also called Maharaja Ranjit Singh Fort, this renowned military establishment stands proudly on Grand Trunk Road. It houses a beautiful museum that boasts European-style architecture and picturesque archways, along with a display of antique collections from war times. One can also plan a visit to the Rakh Bagh Park which is situated at a conveniently short distance.
